5 entries; Tip Bruce, Boyle, premium; W. M. Roe, Boyle, certificate.

Treasurer J. H. Baughman tells us that the stockholders will fall behind considerably, but how much has not yet been ascertained. It is a shame that their efforts were not more highly appreciated.

T. M. Thatcher, Secretary of the Pulaski Fair, took in the last day and was much pleased with the exhibition. He tells us that his association is going to have the best fair it ever had, Sept. 11-14, which is really a good deal.

You can't rattle John Farris. In the race on Friday afternoon Tip Bruce ran into him, turning his sulky over and throwing him to the ground, but he regained his feet, got it back into position, jumped in and came out third in the race. The judges very properly awarded him second money. He was driving Adam Pence's Pence.

The music was a big feature of the fair and was warmly complimented on all sides. The boys engaged W. G. Carroll, of Louisville, a very superior solo cornetist, to lead them and he did so in grand style. His solos could hardly have been discounted by Liberatti. Jovial old Capt. Richards was on hand the last day and assisted largely in the melody-making.

Blinkey Morgan, charged with murdering a detective to rescue the Cleveland fur robbers, was hung Friday morning in the Ohio penitentiary. His last words were "Good-bye Nellie," referring to his mistress. The drop failed to break his neck and his arms becoming loosened, he grabbed at the rope, but the doctors pulled them down and held them till he slowly strangled to death.

The Boston & Providence road has just finished settling without suit for the deaths and damages inflicted to the passengers who went through the rotten bridge a year ago. The total paid was over a million dollars.

GOD IS LOVE AND NOTHING ELSE.

PRaise THE LORD.

LETTER FROM GEORGE O. BARNES

GLEN MARY, TENN., Aug. 3, 1888.

DEAR INTERIOR—We count it a special mercy that the dear Master has given us work to do in a cool retreat like this, in the early days of torrid August. Even here we find the heat almost oppressive; but feel ashamed to complain, for a moment, when we see the grilling torments of "lowlanders" set forth symbolically in the Courier-Journal under the similitude of a hapless wretch with his umbrella in a light blaze of solar combustion, and perspiration as big as pigeons' eggs dropping from his brow.

Yesterday was "election day" in this corner of Tennessee, but our congregation was hardly affected by the local excitement of the event; and I didn't hear of a fight during the day, which, for Glen Mary, is rather unprecedented. For although it has a gentle name, it is really a "dark and bloody ground," and the scene of many deadly recontres. Whiskey and the awful revolver have repeated here, as elsewhere, their dreary rehearsals of blood and horror; and I could give you some sickening details of such, that have transpired on the opposite side of this beautiful glen.

The meeting seems to have exercised a quieting effect—insensibly and unconsciously—upon even the most uproarious of the usual revellers. I have elsewhere often noticed this. The "roaring lion" seems cowed, for a brief space, by the Spirit of God; departing, "for a season," from unbecoming atmosphere; and suddenly crouching "in dry places; seeking rest and finding none," until a suitable opportunity of return is afforded. Alas! he keeps coming back, and will, till Jesus binds him fast in a blessed day, not far ahead, let us hope.

We have been in the mine and learned a good deal before unknown. For although, in Eastern Kentucky, years ago, we held services a mile or more in the "bowels of the earth," we saw little of the practical life of miners. Then we went, with 40 or 50 friends, consecutive days, in the little coal cars, to a central dome, or room, where the miners collected from all quarters of their underground retreat to hear the preaching and singing. After the weird services were over, we were drawn out in a train of "empties"—as the unladen boxes are called—seeing nothing of mining at all. And in all our wanderings we saw, for the first time in our recent visit the way we get our coal fires. Very simple is the process of ordering "another bucket of coal" to replenish the familiar grate. But like the ubiquitous morning paper, little do we apprehend the "deeds of darkness" (no insinuations) needful to the production of either. Any one who will go into the offices of the great dailies, at midnight, or on into the "wee, wee" hours that precede the dawn, will open his paper next morning with a new sensation. So, I think, when I warm myself by a coal fire, in future, I will recur to our jaunt into the heart of this Tennessee mountain and what we saw there.

A coal mine is a little world in itself. Outside it is represented by the domiciles of the people who run it;—here about 100 tenements scattered through the primeval forest, and only in one place keeping together in a double row, far enough on each side of the mountain road to constitute a crooked street. For the rest—indiscriminate scattering. A smoky wooden building, just at the mine's mouth, contains the stationary engine, that, with 2,000 feet of wire rope, takes in the "empties" and brings out the laden cars. These are boxes, longer than broad, mounted on small, but steady cast iron wheels, and holding—well packed—half a ton of coal or more. These trains of coal trucks—50 at a time—go in empty, at certain intervals, and come out full. As the "empties" go along the main entrance, they are distributed through side avenues, and these in turn are shunted upon little side tracks running into "rooms" where the miners work. Of course everything has to be perfectly systematic; for precious lives are always at stake, and blunders are paid promptly in blood and broken bones. It is to John's credit that not one life has been lost by accident in the mines since he took charge. But this means sleepless vigilance, constant personal supervision and cool judgment, as well as thorough experience. It must be almost terrible, this strain of constant responsibility. But what am I talking about? We all have just such, in souls around us, whether we realize and accept it or not. Only here, it comes, visibly to the surface, like the captaincy of an ocean steamer, or the conductorship of a passenger train, or the pastorate of a congregation.

We think "our John" is "one of a thousand." His firm face reminds me of Ramezes I—him which we all saw in the "Century" a few months ago. A born, as well as a brought up "manager." That he has managed the "Glen Mary Coal and Coke Co." well, is shown by all who know anything about it. When "stock" bounds, in six years, from 70 below par to 50 above, men of business know that somebody is at the helm who knows his business. He will not like to see this praise in print, and I am not going to show it to him, knowing how his reticent nature abhors anything like self display. But we are "mighty" proud of our great big-hearted, one-armed friend, and if I say anything about him at all, it must be a word of commendation.

Well, in six years, he has turned this "failure" into a grand "success," and an output of 500 tons per diem of coal and I don't know how much coke, will not begin to supply the demand for this favorite brand of "black diamonds."

A Wrong Impression.

We are asked in justice to Mr. Brown to publish the following, signed by citizens who participated in the alleged "indignation" meeting held at Lancaster on the day of the suicide of Mr. Johnston:

The impression has to some extent gotten out that the meeting held on the 24th of July to pass resolutions of respect in regard to the death of J. "Breck" Johnston, was an indignation meeting, or at least to censure Mr. E. Brown for the unfortunate suicide. The undersigned take this method of correcting any such impression and state that when the meeting was called to order, Mr. W. S. Miller stated that the object of the meeting was "not for the purpose of censuring anybody for the suicide or giving any reasons therefor, but simply to testify to the former character of the deceased and pass resolutions of respect for the consolation of his family and friends," and we further state that we took part in the meeting for no other purpose than that stated by Mr. Miller, and which we considered prudent and respectfully due Mr. Johnston's family and friends. R. H. Tomlinson, chairman, att'y. at law; S. D. Rothwell, jailer; J. C. Robinson, hardware merchant; W. J. Kinnaird, clerk Nat. Bank; R. E. McRoberts, druggist; W. O. Sweeney, clothier; James C. Hemphill, clerk; S. Marris, grocer; Theo. Curry, grocer; J. P. Sandifer, Cashier Cit. Nat. Bank; W. S. O'Neal, M. D.; B. E. Hudson, Teller Cit. Nat. Bank; A. G. Scott, painter; B. E. Waller, D. D. S.; S. H. Harris, grocer; L. C. Hopper, grocer; C. M. Lackey, grocer; Ed Bishop, clerk; C. W. Sweeney, dry goods; R. C. Hamilton, ex-marshall; N. A. Thompson, grocer; A. B. Brown, farmer; C. B. Engleman, grain dealer; M. D. Hughes, editor; J. A. Burnside, farmer; R. Kinnaird, teller Nat. Bank; R. H. Batson, dry goods; D. R. Collier, commercial tourist.

FARM AND TRADE ITEMS.

At Paris 72 cents is the ruling price for wheat.

The seasonable rains are making the late corn whop itself.

Adam Pence sold to Andy Cowan 100 breeding ewes at 3 cents.

H. T. Bush sold to P. P. Nunnally some extra good heifers at 31 cents.

Mercer County Fair at Harrodsburg, Ky., Tuesday, Aug. 14-17.

Wild West show at the Mercer County Fair each day. Don't fail to attend.

Running and Trotting Races each day at the Mercer County Fair. Don't forget the date, Aug. 14-17.

See the competitive Beef Cattle Rings at the Mercer County Fair, Aug. 14th, four days. $100 to the best herd.

A. J. Coleman sold at the fair here to Hughes, of Madison, a brown combined mare for $500. She afterwards took several premiums.

Judge Stephen Burch had here yesterday a stalk of corn 16 1/2 feet high with two ears on it, the first 8 feet from the ground. He has ten acres nearly all of which is 14 feet high.

Mr. H. N. Ware has bought 200 acres of land at Pleasant Grove, Washington county, 5 miles from Springfield, at $26.50, and we regret to say will leave us this fall. In another column he offers his farm at Rowland for sale.

The New Era says that the crop of wheat in Christian county will reach 900,000 bushels. The ruling local price at present is 67 1/2 cents. The paper estimates that it would cost the farmers $108,000 to ship the crop to Louisville, and makes an argument thereon in favor of a new road.

Twenty-one houses were struck by lightning during a storm at St. Cloud, Minn. Two persons and two fine horses were killed.

Emanuel James shot and mortally wounded his brother at Sanford, Fleming county, the affair growing out of the sale of some sheep on the previous day. A fratricidal streak runs in the family, the father of the boys having killed his brother 20 years ago.

During the month of July there were filed in the office of the county clerk of Bell, 17 deeds, transferring to an English syndicate 5,043 acres of land for $121,675—an average of a little more than $23 for land that could have been bought one year ago for $2 per acre.—[Louisville Times.]

LANCASTER, GARRARD COUNTY.

—Many of the Garrard people will attend the Danville fair.

—There was a joint meeting of the Christian Aid and Missionary Societies Saturday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. J. Wesley West.

—The teachers' examination was held in our city Friday and Saturday and 7 teachers were examined. The examiners were Dr. James B. Kinnaird and H. M. Grant.

—There was no preaching at the Christian church Sunday, so a number of the members had the pleasure of hearing a sermon by Rev. J. C. Randolph, of the Presbyterian church.

—We are glad to state that Mrs. J. B. Johnston will remain a resident of Lancaster and will continue to occupy her house on Lexington street. She has just received a policy of $15,000 insurance on her husband's life.

—The fine and imposing livery stable of Walker & Doty, on Stanford street, is rapidly nearing completion, and we must say from its length and altitude it will present a fine appearance; and it is a building and an accommodation that the Lancaster people must feel proud of.

—Quite a delegation, consisting of Gen. W. J. Landram, John W. Poor, James Leavell, James Spillman, L. W. Hudson, W. B. Mason, James H. Brown and W. A. Arnold went to Louisville last week to confer with Col. Bennett Young in regard to us having the new road. We are afraid we will yet be left in the lurch in regard to having it here. The price is so exorbitant, $100,000 and the right-of-way, before the road comes to Lancaster, and $50,000 and right-of-way through the rest of our county. Whether we are to be victors now in winning the much needed road is to be determined by the citizens of the county. We have often heard it said, and believe it, too, no one should crave a thing that is not needful, or that will not prove beneficial to them. Now, if we Lancasterians don't need this road and are not certain to accrue lasting benefits from it, we must say we are sadly mistaken.

—Mr. C. C. Price, of Lexington, was in our city Saturday, greeting his many friends. Miss Mattie Spangler, who has been the guest of her cousin, Mrs. L. E. Hubble, has returned to her home near Covington. Misses Anna and Fannie Frazee, of Mayaville, are visiting the family of H. C. Jennings. Miss Mabel Burnside, of Harrodsburg, is a visitor at her grandfather's, W. H. Kinnaird. Miss Lizzie Wherritt, of Richmond, has been with relatives in our midst for several days past. Col. W. O. Bradley is at present sojourning in the Capital. Mrs. Jas. Vanarsdall and Mrs. William Reed, of Harrodsburg, after a visit to relatives here, have returned home. Walker Landram has returned from St. Louis. Mrs. Borders, of Boyle county, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. C. C. Stormes. Jack Adams, of Fort Worth, Texas, is in our city. Mr. Jesse Dunn and wife, of Barnwell, South Carolina, was visiting the family Mr. John C. Thompson last week. Col. B. M. Burdett, of Killarney, Florida, is on a visit to his old home, Lancaster. Mr. W. H. Smith, late of Pineville, was at home Sunday, enjoying the society of his family. Mr. E. W. Lillard is on the sick list at this writing.

—Below we give a list of the original Harrison men of the county, so far as we have ascertained, of 1840, 1 of whom are now for Cleveland: Dr. Jennings Price, Dr. Elias Fisher, Dr. W. P. Hill, Dr. Joseph Letcher, J. Harvey Yantis, Henry B. Arnold, Walter Adams, Cephus Conn, Joseph Bland, A. G. Herndon, Frank White, Stephen Marris, James Austin, James Patterson, Zach E. Bush, James Farris, Andrew J. Burdett, Morgan Hudson, Robert Cays, Joseph Sadler, John Lawson, Rice G. Woods, Alvah Pullins, Willis Adams, John Maret, Joshua Dunn, Allen Burnside, Robt. Poor, Ephraim Brown and Isaac Hamilton. P. S. Here are two more who voted for Harrison in 1840 and will vote for Cleveland in 1888. Capt. Thomas Percock and Wade H. Walker, Sr. Next we give you a statement of a number of the republicans who voted for Gen. Harrison, who will vote for the grandson: Laban Lair, Samuel D. Carpenter, Jas. Spillman, William Miller, Sr., Peyton Smith, William Ray, Samuel Johnston, Thomas Edmiston and Thomas Naylor. We think this a pretty good exhibit for Garrard, can Lincoln do as well? Three Cleveland men to 1 for Harrison.

Beauty

Is desired and admired by all. Among the things which may best be done to enhance personal beauty is the daily use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. No matter what the color of the hair, this preparation gives it a lustre and pliancy that adds greatly to its charm. Should the hair be thin, harsh, dry, or turning gray, Ayer's Hair Vigor will restore the color, bring out a new growth, and render the old soft and shiny. For keeping the scalp clean, cool, and healthy, there is no better preparation in the market.

"I am free to confess that a trial of Ayer's Hair Vigor has convinced me that it is a genuine article. Its use has not only caused the hair of my wife and daughter to be but it has given my rather stunted mustache a respectable length and appearance."—B. Britton, Oakland, Ohio.

"My hair was coming out (without any assistance from my wife, either). I tried Ayer's Hair Vigor, using only one bottle, and I now have as fine a head of hair as any one could wish for."—B. T. Schmittou, Dickson, Tenn.

"I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor in my family for a number of years, and regard it as the best hair preparation I know of. It keeps the scalp clean, the hair soft and lively, and preserves the original color. My wife has used it for a long time with most satisfactory results."—Benjamin M. Johnson, M. D., Thomas Hill, Mo.

"My hair was becoming harsh and dry, but after using half a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor it grew black and glossy. I cannot express the joy and gratitude I feel."—Mabel C. Hardy, Delavan, Ill.

NOTICE!

TO THE CITIZENS OF LINCOLN COUNTY.

Having recently equipped a fine Roller Mill in the town of Stanford that we defy any Mill to equal in quality of flour, we think the citizens of the county should have county pride enough to patronize and sustain the same. We wish to inform whom it may concern that we are in the market to buy your wheat and corn and will always give the highest market price for same. We have added some new machinery to our corn meal department and can now make meal to suit any person. It cannot be equalled by any other mill in this vicinity. We solicit a trial in our flour and meal department. All having grain in our line for sale will please call at the Mill, where our agent will be found at all times, who will give the best prices for same. Bran and shipstuffs always in stock.
